

Hi Margaret,

I assume you are talking about a shortcut for placing the "micro" symbol into forum messages?
I'll look into putting a button on there - but in the meantime you can do it in 4 possible ways:

1) place the code: `µ`
into the forum post text box and it will turn into the micro symbol when you submit the post (that's: ampersand micro semicolon)

for example, if you want to write microWatts per meter squared, you can type in: `µ/m2` (that's the above code followed by a forward-slash and then m2).

2) place the code: `µ`
into the forum post text box and it will turn into the micro symbol when you submit the post (that's: ampersand hash 181 semicolon)

3) if you're using a Windows PC, hold the ALT key down while you type the numbers 181 on the keypad and it should produce a micro symbol in forum post text box.

4) if you're using a Apple Mac computer, press option + m and it should produce a micro symbol in forum post text box.

hope this makes sense and it's enough to keep you going until I figure out how to put a special button on there :-) best regards,

Henrik
